

COMPREHENSION

1. Name the countries or continents Alice has been through. What do you think her nationality is?
2. Reproduce two more descriptive long sentences concerning her feelings, mood, or activities.
3. Does the reader and correctly realize that Alice discovers in this country something he/she has never known? Justify (use different ideas).
4. Explain how Alice has gradually become less and stronger, concerning:
 - a) her difficulties in understanding some animals;
 - b) her attitude to money;
 - c) her relationship with her family.

5. At the end of the text, Alice thinks a lot, a lot of philosophy. What does her refusal to eat signify?

6. a)

"And later, when I am a bit older, I shall renounce the earth and go higher and higher, first, to the sky, to the father sky, to the stars. Just wandering with no previsions, grasping the measurements."

From this sentence, deduce the meaning of the verb "to renounce".

- b) Compare the man's philosophy of life and the little independent Alice (2 ideas).

7. Show that this text gives a nice understanding of the title book.

B. APPREHENSION

Characteristics of Alice's world.

- 1) Alice meets a young forest woman, getting to go and live in a Phoenician country (make their conversation: 200 words)
- 2) What is your definition of "wisdom"? (200 words)